CHRISTMAS RUSH NOT "EMERGENCY"

Industrial Commission in Ruling on Hours of Woman Labor.

Madison—The Christmas rush season is not considered an emergency under the state labor laws regulating the hours of labor of women, by the state industrial commission. It is announced. The commission declared that it believes the emergency contemplated by the statutes must be something more than busy days or so-called rush seasons in business.

"One essential characteristic of any emergency is that it is an unforeseen occurrence or situation," a statement by the commission declared. "The seasonal features of the so-called Christmas rush in business are well known, with ample time and opportunity to meet the obligation."

Under the commission's ruling, women may not be employed in stores more than nine hours a day and 50 hours a week at day work nor more than eight hours a day and 40 hours a week at night work. Under the emergency clause, women should be employed not to exceed 10 hours in any one day and not more than 50 hours in any one week.

SAILSTAD DENIES USING FIRM FUND

"Was No Such Animal," Says Former Head of Multitone Phonograph Co.

Superior—Denial that he had, as stated in newspaper dispatches from Eau Claire, used $25,000 to $30,000 of the funds belonging to the Multitone Phonograph company for speculative purposes, was made by Edward J. Sailstad, held at the county jail on a charge of arson, in an interview last night.

Sailstad explained that the company originally was capitalized for $50,000 and later this amount was increased to $100,000. He stated that $25,000 was invested in the building and that there was on the books only $20,000 in accounts receivable. He said that most of the money was invested in materials and machinery.

"It's all bunk," he insisted. "There wasn't any money in the company available for speculation if I did want to use it."

A series of tableaux illustrating the shepherd scene, and the nativity scene will follow the playlet. One of the features will be the appearance of the three wise men. The parts are taken by Edward Freese, Clifford Brown and Walter Nichols. Junior high school boys will act as ushers.

Beloit Players, in First Trip, to Visit Janesville

The Beloit College Players will give their first out-of-town performance Friday night, when it presents "The Witching Hour" at the Wilson theater. The college dramatic organization has been entertaining Beloit audiences for nearly ten years, but has never before been allowed to stage one of its plays in another city. "The Witching Hour" was presented by the Players at the Wilson theater, Beloit, Dec. 7. The play itself, written by Augustus Thomas, enjoyed a long run in New York, starting in 1907. The plot centers about the much discussed subject of mental telepathy. Last year the Players had cast their activities to the lighter drama, presenting "Believe Me, Nantippe," "Dulcy" and "The Clod."

The Players petitioned the faculty of the college some time ago to be allowed to present "The Witching Hour" in Janesville. The success of the venture will determine the future policy. The cast of "The Witching Hour" will be slightly changed for the Janesville performance, but the leading parts will be taken by the same students. George McCausland will take the place of Jack Frost as Lee Ellinger, and the part of Lester Jack as a servant in the Ellinger household will be taken by another member of the Players. The cast will include remaining two days of their Christmas vacation in Beloit to present the play at Janesville.

The original cast follows:

EVERY CHILD TO HAVE SANTA CLAUS

All Organizations Cooperating; Elks Buy Out Toy Department.

Christmas, 1923, is going to be the most merry in Janesville in many years. Local organizations are going to see to it that, for a series of days, every child in the city will have Santa Claus that will provide every family, every boy and every girl with the things that will give happiness in abundance.

The Elks' lodge alone will take care of 368 children. To do it they have purchased the entire toy stock of a store that is discounting that department. The toys are set out upon tables and on the floor of the lodge room. There are mechanical trains and trolleys, games, dolls and toys, dolls and small dolls, telephones, pile drivers, Sandy Andies, blocks, footballs, carpet sweepers, stoves, baubles, acrobats, hobby horses, candy—everything to make glad the heart of the child.

PUBLIC IS INVITED TO FEATHER PARTY
A two-night's feather party will be held by the Elks in their club rooms in the Myers theater building Thursday and Friday nights. Not only members and their wives and sisters and sweethearts, but the public is invited. The money taken in will be used to help defray the cost of providing a real Christmas for Janesville children.

Cooperating with the Salvation Army, the Gazette plans to have a Santa Claus for every child, and others, the Elks have an authentic checked list of the city boys and girls. Fred Green is chairman in charge of plans. It is already being found that there will be need for more toys. These the Elks are now rounding up. The toys are not small; they are just what children dream about. When Santa was here last week, seeing that the children were so big, he made arrangements that 15 of the Elks members would deliver the toys. They will be headed by William Heller who will see that autos take the gifts to the several homes. The toys will be suitably wrapped to be opened by the children. No Freedom in Russia.
Shorn of all the contributory verbiage and explanatory paragraphs concerning the Russian soviet government in his first article or utterance on the visit he made to Russia the past summer, Senator La Follette's reaction may be summed up in these sentences:
"Democracy, as we understand it, does not exist in Russia. There is no free speech, no free press, and no freedom of assembly; no opposition newspaper is permitted to be published.
Now we rise, like the celebrated Hashamura, Tokyo, to inquire to know how there can be a free government without a free press, free speech and free assembly? That statement has been made in a score of editorial analyses in the Gazette regarding the Russian soviet government, each editorial being based on official utterances or recorded actions of the soviet itself. No matter what the senator may say after that, the two sentences condemn the soviet as an autocratic government. One thing more however the senator does emphasize, and that is when he says he told the Russian leaders that they would 'be better regarded by other nations of the earth if they would cease their schemes of world revolution and seek to perfect their own government.'"
There has been the great and moving reason for the opposition built up against the soviet—the "Third Internationale" which has arisen out of communal leadership of Russia, and is purposed to carry all the world over to the dictation of the proletariat as the world government, all-permeating and all-embracing. Some millions of dollars spent here by the Internationale and other Russian communal bodies have found response in the Fosters and others who have been willing to spend it to create the "world revolution."

The Lenin government probably could not exist for any length of time and would have long ago been overthrown had there been a free press and a free speech. Senator La Follette admits that the soviet with its small number of communal followers is a dictatorship, not a free government. He wants immediate recognition of Russia as a soviet government. This in spite of the dictatorship and the submerging of the masses of Russian people by the autocratic soviet. Here one fails to find consistency. It may be that the senator, as usual, is inconsistent for a purpose.
There seems to be a large degree of misunderstanding about Russia or perhaps a deliberate attempt to misinform. For instance, in commenting on the refusal of Secretary Hughes to start negotiations with Tschitcherine, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, a correspondent of the Milwaukee Journal says that the Pacific coast is eager for recognition so that we may open commerce with Siberia with "its opportunity for enormous trade." Recognition of Russia from a diplomatic standpoint has only the remotest relation to that trade. We are trading with Russia now and there is no bar whatsoever to extension of that trade or commercial relations by the Pacific coast to Siberia or any other point. Recognition is a political, not a commercial question, a question of diplomacy and not of trade barter and sale. Mr. Hughes, with the president, says that when Russia will come with hands clean, acknowledging obligations and a willingness to restore confiscated property of American citizens, we will talk about recognition. But Russia comes, with the stolen watch in its hand, telling the United States that it will be glad to get into the family and proposes however to keep the watch and to keep its time record by the pilfered property. All the political tergiversation in the world will not change this question in its moral or political aspect.

Europe has the "Gimmies."

The Still Unhappy Greece.
From the day the jingo government under Constantine failed to carry out the campaign in Asia Minor against the Turks to a successful end there has been only a postponement of the time when Greece would become either a military dictatorship or a republic. In spite of the executions and the death of leaders, the republican seed planted by thousands of Greeks returned from the United States and the enormous expense attached to the royal excess baggage, has instigated a continuous propaganda for a government without the frills of a useless monarchy. So the king and his queen and the royal household have fled to Rumania for asylum, while the leaders, Gonas and Plastiras, revolutionary heads, have come into command of the immediate situation.
Last Sunday there was an election and the referendum was so opposed to the continuance of the present government, that while it was not decisive as to what form of government was wanted in place of the monarchy, it was definite enough to show the king and queen that Greece was no longer a comfortable place in which to live. The Greeks have an unhappy way of disposing of the figures in the opposition to the power in control. King George did not want to become another Louis XVI. Now it is up to the Greek people to decide what kind of government is wanted and a referendum is to be held for that purpose. In the meantime the army and navy will see that a peaceful government is provided—a military dictatorship differing only in some particulars from that of Spain and Italy.

There can be no valid objection to the proposed ordinance raising the license fee of outside peddlers and hawkers above the rates now charged.

A Congressional Kindergarten

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.
Washington.—A kindergarten for baby congressmen has been one of the novel and interesting features attendant upon the beginning of the new congress. Of course it was not called by such an undignified name. On the contrary it was designated by the impressive and sonorous title of "symposium." However, it was in reality nothing more nor less than a kindergarten—a school for beginners—where the new members received instruction in the rudiments of being national legislators.
There are more than a hundred novitiates in the new house. These are members who have not served in previous congresses, and who, presumptively, are not thoroughly informed as to what is expected of them in their new jobs, what they can do, and how to get about doing it. They could learn all this by experience in the course of a few weeks or months, but William Tyler Page, clerk of the house, offered them a short cut to knowledge. In a letter addressed to all of them he said:
"More or less correspondence during the recess with newly elected members, who were not members of a previous congress, concerning their privileges and prerogatives, suggests that it might be helpful if they could meet me and hold an informal symposium before congress convenes."
"Such an occasion would also afford an early opportunity to become better acquainted with those therefore extend to you a very cordial invitation to meet your fellow new members of the 68th congress."
The meeting was held in the hearing room of the house office building, the night before the party caucuses or conferences were called, and was largely attended. The new members had learned that a similar symposium, held prior to the opening of the 67th congress, had proved decidedly helpful to the beginners in that house and they lost no time in enrolling themselves in Mr. Page's school. Some of them were a bit diffident at first, and others manifested reticence about admitting that they needed instruction from Mr. Page. They entered into the spirit of the occasion and proceeded to make the most of the opportunity to get acquainted, not only with each other, but with the details of their new jobs.
They found Mr. Page an exceptionally efficient instructor. He has been identified with the house organization for more than 40 years, having started as a page in the office of the clerk in 1881, and what he does not know about the trials, tribulations, duties, and responsibilities of a congressman is not worth worrying about.
Many perplexing questions confront a new member of the house. One of the first of these is as to how he may obtain the floor to make a speech, for the first-terminer invariably has at least one big speech that he wants to "get off his chest" at the earliest opportunity. He wants to demonstrate to his constituents that he is on the job and he has some views on public questions that he thinks should be heralded to his country. To his surprise he discovers that no matter how much he may want to make a speech he can not do so unless the powers that be are willing. He may clamor for recognition until he is hoarse, but he is not recognized with the presiding officer, with the floor leader of his party, or with the committee chairman in charge of whatever legislative matter may be before the house, that he is to have a certain allotted time, he will clamor in vain.
Indeed, he can not even get "leave to print," which means having a speech published in the Congressional Record without having actually delivered it on the floor of the house, unless he has arranged to be recognized just long enough to make his formal request and unless there is unanimous consent that that poor boon be granted him.
As a matter of fact there is a sort of unwritten rule to the effect that new representatives should be seen and not heard, and the sooner the newcomers learn that and decide to conform to it the easier they find it to get along and accomplish a modicum of what they came to Washington to do.
Other questions that bothered Mr. Page's kindergarten class were as to how much patronage each member is allowed and how to get it, and how the even had to be told how to address the presiding officer of the house—that is, when he is to be addressed as "Mr. Speaker" and when as "Mr. Chairman," for the house, sitting as the house, and sitting as a "committee of the whole" are two entirely different propositions.

Champ Clark of Missouri, who had the distinction of being elected to the speakership in four successive congresses, a record equalled only by "Uncle Joe" Cannon of Illinois, and Andrew Stevenson of Virginia, in an address to the new members of the 68th congress on "The Making of a Representative," told them that a man has to learn to be a representative, just as he must learn to be a blacksmith, a carpenter, a farmer, an engineer, a lawyer, or a doctor.
"A new congressman must begin at the foot of the class and spell up," said Mr. Clark. "Of course, the more brains, tact, energy, courage and industry he has the quicker he will get up. If he possesses these qualities and if his constituents, keep him in the house, he is as certain to rise as the sparks are to fly upward. No human power can keep him down."
Mr. Clark also had a message of hope and encouragement to new members who do not get the committee assignments they would like to have. He told of his own experience, saying that no congressional tenderfoot ever had poorer assignments than he had, and then after becoming next to the ranking democratic member on foreign affairs and patents, he stood still for eight years, only to be shunted to the bottom of the minority list on ways and means. Then, however, things began to "break right" for him and, through the happenings of politics in five different states, which retired his seniors, he became the ranking democratic member of that important committee in four years. The Missourian accordingly admonished new members not to be disappointed, no matter what assignments were given them, for they could never tell when fortune was smiling on them.
A man who gets himself elected to congress is necessarily a big man in his home district, and often he brings with him a well developed bump of conceit when he comes to the national capital. After a few weeks he discovers the average member of the house is little more than a glorified messenger boy, running errands for insistent constituents and that, until he has the prestige of years of service, he has little or no chance of cutting any figure whatever in national legislative affairs.
ed. These persons pay no taxes, contribute nothing to the city's benefit, are often selling things which are fakes or frauds and the citizens should be given ample protection. In fact we can dispense with them entirely. As the proposal has nothing to do with the farmers or gardeners selling products raised by themselves, it will work no hardship in that line. What it aims to reach is that class of hawkers who travel from town to town selling articles which are either sold in stores or are only sold by misrepresentation because there is no responsibility attached to the peddler.

The police seem to be getting better as marksmen.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
FAITHLESS
Poor is the man who counts his life
By days of pleasure and of strife,
Who thinks this paltry gift below
Is all that he shall ever know.
And walls no poverty is worse
Than is the poverty of purse.
He has no faith to lean upon,
No source of strength when hope is gone,
He feels the winds of winter blow,
He sees the cruel ice and snow,
And thinks men suffer grief and pain,
Love and are loved, and all in vain.
Yet he who cannot see the snow
And feel the winds of winter blow
With faith that spring and summer wait
With all their beauty at the gate,
Is poorer and more wretched than
The pale, decrepit beggar man.
He may be rich in purse, but when
He shares the common fate of men,
And one he loves is called away,
If all his joy was housed in clay,
And he has seen no spirit there,
Then he is naked to despair.
No God to turn to with his prayer,
None for his absent ones to care,
No life beyond the things of this world,
No future hope to dry his tears,
Then, in his darkest hour of need
The faithless man is poor indeed.

WHO'S WHO TODAY

ANTON LANG
The man whose portrait The Christus in the historic Passion Play in Oberammergau has made him world famous, is now in the United States—on a mission of love and charity. He is leading the band of players who have come to America's shores to sell their wares—statuary, toys, rosaries, and pottery, to derive funds to keep alive the passion play back in the Bavarian hills.
Lang, who is only called the Christus, is a prototype of the Saviour but, like other Passion Players, he tries to live in keeping with the religious teachings of the play.
Physically he is a sturdy man, broad shouldered but with a kindly face. His long hair falls to his shoulders. His beard is heavy. Framed by the beard and the long locks is a face which has drawn the praise of artists as an artistic study. There is no indication of excess or dissipation about his features. His small eyes twinkle with whole souled humor or grow sad as he pleads for the continuance of the play.
He has acted the part of The Christus for thirty years. He is a potter-maker by trade. He has given most of his time, however, to the revival of the Christus play, and he has traveled to Palestine to study further the story of Nazareth, to become more nearly the imitation of Christ.
He points out that when the play was produced three years ago it brought 30,000 marks to each actor. For the sum of 100,000 marks, 100 rehearsals and staged the performance 69 times. The 30,000 marks were worth then just $6.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
THE WRONG SPECIALIST
When a plain doctor like the helmsman of this half century avers that it is a mistake to seek a heart specialist because you have a pain around the heart, or a stomach specialist because you have dyspepsia, or a foot specialist because you have neuritis, the motive will be questioned by those who are fond of "trying" specialists. Let us quote an instance to illustrate the motive:
A young man, a butcher, had been confined to his home for several weeks because of a form of paralysis which caused pain and disability of the legs. He had some friends, and the friends were quite naturally interested. Friend like, they presumed upon their relationship to advise the young man what he should do. One would not give him peace until he dropped his doctor and called in a healer who acquired his education via the mail. This healer was confident he could cure the young man in treatments. The patient took about a dozen of the treatments and then concluded to surrender his right to the rest—what he had paid for in advance. Next a masseur was summoned. He diagnosed neuritis (spinal chord inflammation) and predicted (to the relation) a fatal issue. Discouraged, hopeless, the young man consented to have an ordinary doctor attend him and do what he could for his first day. Of course the old doctor was "sore," the family assumed, and so a young tutor, new in the neighborhood, was called. First thing he did was to ask the doctor to himself. "Must be something else fun around here." He proceeded to examine the patient from the equator north to the pole.
"Pretty bad tonsils. They'll have to come out!"
Well, a man will catch at a straw. The tonsils were removed—by a throat specialist, we are glad to remark—and the patient stood the operation well. The tonsils were pretty thoroughly permeated with caustic food—mustard. From this condition the order in the room had originated.
Soon afterward the young man began to improve. In three months he returned to his shop cured.
His "myelitis" was really a multiple neuritis, caused by focal infection, as is most neuritis.
Naturally a friend is an acquaintance who feels impelled to suggest the best treatment and doesn't.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Company Left Behind.
If a family having lice moves out, is there danger of one catching them by cleaning the house? (Mrs. A. O.) Answer—No.
I am bothered with eye flashes. Can you suggest relief for them? Is it nervousness or worry? (Mrs. R.) Answer—Laundering is sufficient disinfection to make clothing safe. If there where it is freely exposed to the sun for 10 hours.
Home Treatment for Appendicitis.
There is a great deal of home treatment (that will benefit appendicitis). Are hot applications good? How about the olive oil treatment? (Mrs. J.) Answer—Your hot applications and olive oil will all right if you are just making believe you've got appendicitis. The notion that oil of any kind (be it under its own name or under the name of some nostrum) can have any value in appendicitis is dangerous.

Q. My wife's servant is a student for the search of a private dwelling under the national prohibition act.
A. This cannot be done unless the dwelling is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor, or unless it is used in part for some business purpose such as a store, shop, saloon, restaurant, hotel, or boarding house.
Q. Would instruments used for observation of heavenly bodies at sea be useless were the seas uncharted?
A. These instruments would determine the geographical position in latitude and longitude even though the seas were uncharted. The chart makes the information of practical value.
Q. What was the army rank of the Prince of Wales during the war?
A. He served as a captain, being known as Captain Windsor.
Q. Was Emma Goldman deported or did she leave of her own free will?
A. The labor department says that Emma Goldman was deported in December, 1919, and can never return to this country.
Q. Is it necessary for an individual to submit to the government a sample of an insecticide that is to be put on the market?
A. It is not necessary to submit a sample, but if a person were to submit a formula and copy of the label to be used the insecticide and fungicide of the department of agriculture would advise him concerning the product.
Q. What can be put on windows that will keep off the frost?
A. The number of experiments in removing the ice or congelation of water from window panes, 14 methods were used. In shops where are are so-called "ice windows" the congelation is most apparent, and in some where there was a comparatively dry heat the windows were not materially affected. The remedies are given in the order of their efficiency: 1. flame of an alcohol lamp; 2. sulphuric acid; 3. aqua ammonia; 4. glycerine; 5. aqua regia; 6. hydrochloric acid; 7. benzine; 8. hydrochloric acid; 9. turpentine; 10. alcohol; 11. nitric acid; 12. cobalt nitrate; 13. infusion of nutgalls; 14. tincture of ferrous sulphate.
Q. When were Protestants first called by the name of Protestants?
A. The term Protestant was first applied to adherents of Martin Luther, about 1529.
Q. Should the engagement ring or the wedding ring go on the finger first?
A. The engagement ring is worn over the wedding ring when the bride is to be used for kid gloves.
A. This is not done. The leather employed in making the kid gloves comes from the skins of young goats which are killed when they are on a diet of mother's milk and before they are allowed to feed on herbage.

FIRST AND LAST
Perhaps at first you didn't think of a plumbing and heating shop as a place to do your Christmas shopping. Then why not think of it as a last place to get gifts? You'll be surprised at the number of good gifts—gifts for him and her and all the family—gifts that last—gifts that give health, comfort, happiness—to be had at a plumbing and heating shop.
Why not make this Christmas a different kind of a Christmas?
The old, old gifts are all right. But a new gift adds to the pleasure because it is new. And most of the gifts got at your plumber's are new because until now many people did not think of a plumbing shop as a gift shop. Come in. Take a look. See for yourself the gifts your friends would like to find hanging on their Christmas trees next Christmas morning.

"YES, WE HAVE NO BAYANO," SONG OF BOGUS PROMOTER

[AN ASSOCIATED PRESS] Chicago—Only alligator swamps and Indians exist in the regions of Panama, represented as the location of the gushing oil wells of the Bayano River Trust company, in which more than $3,000,000 was invested by friends and relatives of Leo Koretz, fugitive promoter, according to the investors' committee, which returned yesterday from Panama.

In the luxurious offices maintained by Koretz, for whom an international search is being made, there had hung a sign parading a recent popular song, "Yes, We Have No Bayano."

While the disillusioned businessmen, were reporting to the prosecutor, the county grand jury returned an indictment charging Koretz with operating a confidence game and a federal warrant charging misuse of the mails.

In their search for information regarding the whereabouts of Koretz, the state's attorneys are tracing sources of a number of anonymous letters received during the past few days purporting to give details of Koretz' relations with women. Authorities are also working on the theory that Koretz may have been the victim of blackmailers, who may now have knowledge of his place of refuge.

Testimony that Koretz had collected about $200,000 in cash before he was arrested, was given before a referee in bankruptcy by Miss Josephine Schroeder, his secretary, who invested $3,000 in the Bayano company.

Employed Boys' Minstrel Show Well Received

Presenting an entertainment worthy of a larger crowd than saw it, the Y. M. C. A. employed boys' group Carolina Minstrel show, given at the "Y" building Tuesday night, was well received by the 125 persons present.

The show opened with a scene on the cotton fields of the plantation of Col. Matheson, and the negroes sang "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginia." Those who took the part of cotton pickers were: Bernard Daly, George Graham, Delbert Truesdell, Leo Anderson, Otto Ambrose, Harold Baumann, and Robert Howard.

Robert Bergman was the pickin' n'ny who told them that Col. Matheson, played by Fred Lubke, the owner of the plantation and his friend, Major Korst, the owner of a minstrel show, played by Stanley Perssons, were approaching. After a dance by Bernard Daly, a song in which two of the negroes sing with Stanley Persson, he lived out of them to appear in his show.

The second part of the production represented the minstrel show, and the vocal solos by Robert Howard, Fred Lubke, Stanley Perssons, Harold Baumann, John Korst, and A. B. Bergman were well received; as was the trio composed of W. E. Luce, G. A. Graham and Harold Baumann. A. B. Bergman appeared as interlocutor, Otto Ambrose as Sparrelbs, and Harold Baumann as Gravy.

The most amusing number on the program was the comical impersonation of the high school band, in which selections often played by that organization were rendered in parody, with such instruments as a galvanized iron bass drum, and others of the same type.

For the most artistic part of the program was that presented by several prominent musicians of the city during the intermission. Those who appeared were George Hatch, who gave a harp solo; and Mrs. Fred Palminter, Charles Main and George Strampe, in a vocal trio; and Fred Palminter with a harp guitar solo and banjo. Delbert Truesdell and Bernard Daly gave a comedy tumbling act which was almost professional in effect.

Regular meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will be held Thursday night in the lodge rooms.

Regular meeting of the Janesville Chapter No. 2, I. O. O. F., will be held at 7:30 Thursday night at Masonic temple. Officers will be installed.

Regular meeting of Oriental lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias, will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

BELLEVILLE CAR GOES ON RAMPAGE ON HIGHWAY NO. 10

A Belleville car ran wild for a few moments at Leyden the other day when the owner left it in gear by mistake while cranking the engine, the starter being broken. The machine circled across the concrete, knocked Ford's mail box over, then came back across the concrete and into the Leyden store yard.

Here the only passenger, a woman, made a headlong leap, got up with scratched hands and ran in the other direction. The car continued straight south through Kelly's woven wire fence, then rambled 30 rods across a stubble field, through the railroad fence and over all three railroad tracks. It finally stopped on level ground beyond the tracks, a wire coming loose on the coils.

The driver was a pace and a half behind the car all the time but couldn't catch it. The machine was undamaged.

Finance Office Busy with Taxes

All workers in the finance department of the city hall are being kept busy this month with the rush of business incident to mailing out tax notices for 1923. While much has been accomplished, a great amount of work remains to be done before tax collection time which begins Jan. 2. It is expected the notices will be mailed out between Christmas and New Year's and taxpayers are asked not to call the office now to inquire as to what their charges will be. Calls of this nature are not being answered because of trouble and extra work caused.

LOCAL FIREMEN TO ATTEND FUNERALS

Chief G. J. Murphy and Firemen Herbert Flannery were among several from Janesville who visited Port Atkinson Tuesday following the accident in which two were killed when a fire truck overturned. Chief Murphy said the truck was so badly wrecked that it is scarcely worth the charges that will be made for shipping it from Port Atkinson to the factory in Elmira, N. Y. Several members of the Janesville fire department are expected to attend the funerals of the two accident victims, Thursday.

JANESVILLE 9TH ON BUILDING LIST

Drops Down from Second Place in Wisconsin Year Ago.

From a position as second on the list in the valuation of building permits issued in Wisconsin cities a year ago, Janesville dropped to ninth place in November, 1923, according to the National Monthly Building Survey. The figure for Janesville last month was $38,785, compared to $64,690 the preceding month, and $342,150 in November, 1922.

Eight other Wisconsin cities included in the list, show the following totals for the past month: Milwaukee, $5,053,540; Kenosha, $218,530; Racine, $240,691; Sheboygan, $216,331; Green Bay, $180,967; Superior, $126,855; Oshkosh, $59,204; Kaukauna, $47,746. In November a year ago, Janesville was exceeded only by Milwaukee, while in October, 1923, this city was again ninth on the list.

In the national survey, containing the records of 237 cities, November, 1923, showed a greater volume of building permits than the entire country than any previous November and it was the third highest month of the current year, March still holding the monthly record for 1923. The whole country showed a gain of 30 per cent over November last year and 5 per cent over October of this year.

The permits for November totaled $391,053,967, which has been surpassed so far this year only by April, $350,957,000, and March, in excess of $350,000,000. In 25 cities, representing about 20 per cent of the nation's population, about 60 per cent of the nation's building is recorded.

St. Paul Has Big Gain. Large cities showing the most phenomenal gains in November, 1923, over November, 1922, were: St. Paul, 83 per cent; Toledo, 132 per cent; Cleveland, 101 per cent; New York, 68 per cent; St. Louis, 60 per cent; Milwaukee, 54 per cent; San Francisco, 47 per cent; Chicago, 33 per cent; Boston, 26 per cent; Los Angeles, 19 per cent; Nashville, 14 per cent; and Washington, 35 per cent. The gain for the entire country

CHRISTMAS FOWL PRICES ARE LOWER

Turkeys to Be 10 or 15 Cents Lower Than at Thanksgiving.

Turkey for Christmas, according to present indications of the market, is likely to be 10 to 15c cheaper than at Thanksgiving time. It is stated by local butchers, that leading markets of the city estimate the price will be 45c a pound, and one dealer places this cost at 48c. Thanksgiving prices were 55c to 60c.

Prevailing prices on geese will be from 25 to 26c, it is estimated, and on chickens, 25c. Most dealers give the probable price of ducks as 30c, but there is a possibility that this may be lower. Two merchants say that in their opinion, ducks will be worth 25c.

The present supply of poultry is very abundant, it is stated, both of fresh home birds, and of the cold storage kind. Cold storage birds are not likely to find sale here, as the home supply is said to be larger than ever before.

One dealer states that more turkeys have been raised in this territory this year than ever before in his memory. The weather is said to have been well fitted for their success. Other fowls are also abundant.

Fatherless Boys and Girls to Be Guests of Rotary

A Christmas tree and dinner for the fatherless boys and girls of Janesville will be given at the Y. M. C. A. Christmas Eve by the Janesville Rotary club. The club will go without its weekly luncheon next week, using the money it would pay for that to defray the cost of the children's party.

The children will be taken from and to their homes in automobiles. Rotarians will be required to attend in order to receive weekly attendance credit.

"Ladies' night" will be held by the local Rotary club Jan. 2 at the school for the blind. Dinner will be served at 6:15 p. m., followed by a program and dance.

Your gifts of plants and flowers will be delivered on Christmas morning. Just place your orders with us. Order now and avoid the rush. Phone 583. Janesville Floral Co.
